Lutheran Hymns of the Church

Lord, to You I Make Confession
(LSB 608)

Hymn for Confession and Absolution

Text: Johann Franck. 1618-77; tr. Catherine Winkworth, 1827-87, alt

Tune: Johann Cruger, 1598-1662; setting: The Lutheran Hymnal, 1941

Tune Name: HERR, ICH HABE MISSGEHANDELT

Meter: 87 87 88

Scripture: Ps. 51:3-11, 17:2; 2 Cor. 5:18-20; Is. 59:12; Ps. 32:5

Franck helps us to see in the first stanza the truth about our sins and the origins of our sin. Sin does not come from some force outside of ourselves. Sin is not what other people have led us to do. Sin is the way that we have chosen and we have multiplied it. Franck preaches the clear law to us which condemns us for our sin. Points us to see if it were not for the and His Word we would not be able to see and know our sins. If we were to stop at this first stanza we would be left with nothing but terror as it ends with.

In stanza two we respond in the fear the truth of our sin has caused us. When the veil of sin is removed from our eyes and we see ourselves for who we really are as sinners we are appalled by what we have done. We are shamed by who we are. We seek the face of God, to know the one who has revealed the truth about who we are. But we would not dare to call our selves His children because we would presume too much. We come to understand all we can do is beseech God to deal with use in His grace and not to forsake us for our sins. We fall prostrate before God crying out for His mercy on us.

Just in the moment of your despair. In the moment when you thought the darkness has overcome you and there was no hope left the Gospel is given. The gospel is literally sung in resounding song to you. For Now the Son of God, Jesus Christ has come and by His death and the cross has saved you and restored you. Has rescued you from the darkness and the fear of anguish which had overtaken you in your sin.

Now that you have the grace of God in the forgiveness of your sins for the sake of Jesus' death on the cross you ask God for help. You ask God to take all your burdens, all your sins, and sink them in the deepest sea that they would trouble you no longer. They would never darken your life again. You continue to ask God to continue to grow you in knowing His pardon and having your sins cleansed by the blood of Jesus. Then for the Holy Spirit who was given you in the waters of your baptism would never depart from you or be far off. We ask God to make us His own not for a little while but forever. Here we confess that we cannot make ourselves God's children but He is the only one who can adopt us.

Put all four stanzas together and you are guided through what it means to confession. First, you have contention over your sin. You feel it and know you are guilty of it. Second, you firmly believe God the Father in God the Son has forgiven you of your sins and now the Holy Spirit to continue to hold you in this faith till life everlasting.

This is a hymn of Law and Gospel proclaimed to us. That even if we are distracted by other things in church we can hear this hymn and be brought the sweet, sweet comfort of the Gospel in the death of Jesus on the cross for our sins. It leads you to see God forgives your sins.

Your Servant in Christ,

Pastor Welton.
